

DEREK ELLER GALLERY

North Room:

Jeff Shore and Jon Fisher

May 21-July 3, 2009

Opening Reception: Thursday, May 21, 6-8 pm

Texas-based collaborative artists Jeff Shore and Jon Fisher present a new site-specific multi-media installation. Constructed from wood, wires, lights, and motors, this piece includes seven mechanized cameras filming self-contained miniature film sets. The sound components are created through an automated string instrument and a computer which writes algorithmic compositions in real time. Complex, poetic, and captivating, Shore and Fisher's work explores the relationship between cinema and music, as well as commenting on human interaction with new technologies.

Jeff Shore and Jon Fisher's work is currently featured at Western Bridge in Seattle. Their large-scale installation Reel to Reel traveled to The Kemper Museum, Kansas City, and The Weatherspoon Art Museum, Greensboro, NC. It will open at The Scottsdale Museum of Contemporary Art later this year.

Derek Eller Gallery is located at 615 West 27th Street, between 11th and 12th Avenues. Hours are Tuesday - Saturday from 11am - 6pm. For further information or visuals, please contact the gallery at 212.206.6411 or visit www.derekeller.com.